

Education Assistance Administration

Smart Services for Employee Education

The need for employees to get additional skills and education has never been greater. However, outmoded processes for managing education benefits can put additional strain on the staff and resources of a company's HR department.

Benesyst: A Partner Who Knows Reimbursement Services

Most companies agree that one of the best ways to increase business performance is to improve the knowledge and skills of its workforce. Offering tuition reimbursement (and support for other educational expenses) is an effective means for motivating and retaining top employees, and for advancing the talent that drives a company's objectives.

While tuition reimbursement programs can help to develop employees and build a better workforce, administering eligibility, processing reimbursements, and managing compliance requirements can expand the already growing list of responsibilities that a busy human resources team must handle.

Also, outdated systems can fail to provide the administrative controls needed to align an education assistance program with organizational goals.

Benesyst can help organizations deliver Education Assistance services that are nearly effortless for managers to administer, easy for employees to use, and support the objectives of the program.

For more information about how Benesyst can make your Education Assistance program easier and worry-free, contact your Benesyst client executive today.

www.benesyst.net
sales@benesyst.net
(866) 786-3366

Excellence in benefit administration since 1993.

The Intelligent Way To Manage Education Assistance

Employees who have chosen to return to the classroom, whether on campus or online, need to use their time efficiently. They need a tuition approval and reimbursement process that is easy-to-use and intuitive. Benesyst has leveraged its almost twenty years of experience in benefit services to develop a comprehensive platform that delivers just that.

Benesyst provides employees and employers with:

- A web-based application that's user-friendly and available 24/7
- Online processing application with rules-based assessment of course work and other criteria
- Online submission of eligible expenses and tuition
- Comprehensive communication functions that distribute information about eligibility, program requirements and the reimbursement process
- Up-to-date program reports
- Easy reimbursement process via payroll file, direct deposit, or check
- Award-winning customer service that knows your company's Education Assistance program

Employers who want to help their staff increase their skills and knowledge don't have to increase their workload as well. Benesyst's Education Assistance Administration services help everyone work a little smarter.

